EBE NSW Webinar on Draft Paper:
Shape of the Australian Curriculum:
Economics and Business

Monday 10 September, 2012    7.00pm - 8.30pm EST

Find out more about the Australian Curriculum: Economics and Business and have your say

The Draft Paper: Shape of the Australian Curriculum: Economics and Business has been released by the Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority (ACARA) for consultation.

All teachers of Business Studies, Commerce and Economics in NSW will need to be aware of the contents of the draft shape paper as it will inform the writers of the final curriculum and impact on what we teach in the classroom.

Join the webinar for an overview of the draft shape paper by Professor John Lodewijks (School of Business, University of Western Sydney). Professor Lodewijks was a member of the ACARA Business and Economics Expert Advisory Group for the draft shape paper and is a Director of EBE NSW.

Following John’s overview, participants will have a chance to ask questions and offer feedback on the key directions, content and structure which have been proposed.

EBE NSW will be providing feedback to ACARA (consultation closes 12 October 2012). Your views will inform EBE’s final position statement. A list of issues will be emailed to registrants prior to the webinar to facilitate discussion. The draft shape paper is available now on the ACARA website:
