

EBE will be launching its new website with a members section shortly. Members will be able to access the electronic version of the journal from this source.

Economics and Business Educators of NSW

E:BE eNewsletter

From The President

May 2012

Dear Economics and Business Educators NSW Members,

We are pleased to advise members that EBE NSW has launched its revamped website (<http://www.ebe.nsw.edu.au/>) with a special members only section. Current members must first register online and after approval will be sent their username and password.

One of the first benefits for EBE NSW members will be access to the latest issue of "The EBE Journal" (Issue 1, 2012) which is now being distributed in an electronic format. Be sure to visit the website so you can access all the professional reading and resources available in the journal.

We hope that the revamped website will prove informative and useful for you and your students.

Please do not hesitate to contact EBE NSW with your comments and suggestions with regards to these changes. Email admin@ebe.nsw.edu.au

Regards,

Joe Alvaro

President — Economics and Business Educators NSW

Subscribe

Past Issues

Translate ▼

unsubscribe from this list | update subscription preferences